

6/23/2009

SaySo Rap – Orientation 2009

You're unaccustomed to seeing whitey rap now don't pout

I'm hear to talk about able youth speakin' out

Strong in body, strong in mind, strong in heart re-route

To tell you that you got my respect and endless clout

But it's not about me, this jam is all about you

That's why I'm here acting a fool, doing what I do

Helping you out so you can help yourselves

To aiding others to putting books on shelves,

To writin' articles in papers, spittin' knowledge to society

Get the voice heard creating a riot, but see?

Nothing too violent, nothing too drastic

Just something to get heard cuz the problems been compacted

To something much smaller, something insignificant

Now everyone just sees you as different

Let them think that, cuz I know it's the truth

Don't get this ish twisted cuz check it here's my proof

You've been put here by the lord above

To hopefully one day share your love

With others less fortunate than anyone of you

Cuz the world is much bigger than you, point two

Lets y'all know you have strength in your body

Either big or small with potential of a shotty
SaySo provides you with the barrel and the hammer
You are the shell, the bullets, and the sound of after clamor
We're here to give you a mic to do work
To speak up, get heard and fix the problems that lurk
I have enormous faith in your success
Every one of you deserves greatness, nothing less
Y'all have no idea the amount of power you hold
Destiny and Fate are debatable, your choice if you fold
I'm not in your shoes, but I know it's gotta be cold
To feel stranded in the woods with no guide on your own
Stop believing in falsehoods, and any other fallacy
Cuz that's what holds you back from this society claimed normalcy
Some say you won't make it, other's say you won't succeed
This elevates themselves to mask their failures you see
It's a cycle of fakeness, perpetuated by all haters
Plan for success then get it, your no faker
You're the president of your life, SaySo's just the cabinet
We all want you to succeed cuz failure we ain't havin it
You ain't gotta ride solo with your mind on cloud nine
D-Car will ride with you and help you all shine
Like a diamond ring made from the ashes of a man's son
Life's a beautiful struggle don't give up til the battles won

We are all the same people we're all the same person

Help your fellow man, don't ignore em or curse em

SaySo is forever and you had better believe

You got another home and another family

- Daniel "D-Car" Carter
(Son of Nancy Carter, SaySo Executive Director)