

The Red Flood

(One simple mistake can create a disaster.)

As I watched the first drop fall,
I didn't realize what u had already done.
That one drop that had fallen may not affect me yet,
But what if that one drop never dissolves?

After so many, there wouldn't be room for any more.
It would eventually begin to overflow.
And with many more to come
I would create a disaster.

You would have to try your best,
To complete your goals, no matter what.
If you let your first drop fall,
Try your best to clean it up.

Don't create a flood with your life.
Don't fall in the same hole.
As if you were filling in your parents'.
Take control of your life, and clean up your mess.

I saw the first drop fall,
I realize what it has done to me.
I took control of my life,
Now I have great success.

By: Amber Shook
-Year of 2006